

My order

How long is the order (e.g. months)

My 1st meeting with my YJ officer is

Date _____

Time _____

Who do I talk to in YJ?

Ask for the Intake Officer.

Where _____

Phone (07) _____

Email _____

www.cyjma.qld.gov.au

Intensive Supervision Order (ISO)

The material presented in this publication is distributed by the Queensland Government for information only and is subject to change without notice. The Queensland Government disclaims all responsibility and liability (including liability in negligence) for all expenses, losses, damages and costs incurred as a result of the information being inaccurate or incomplete in any way and for any reason. ©State of Queensland (Department of Children, Youth Justice and Multicultural Affairs) 2021

Intensive Supervision Order (Easy English), ver. 1.0, April 2021

What is an intensive supervision order (ISO)?

- It is for young people who have been on other orders and may next go to detention.

- For 10, 11 or 12 years old at the time the court decides your sentence.

- You can still live with your family. You do not go to detention.

- is a way to help you stop offending

It means a youth justice officer (or YJ officer) will supervise you.

What happens?

1. Before you get this order, the court must get a YJ officer to write a report about you.

2. You will meet the YJ officer. They will talk to you more about what you can do on this order.

They may talk to you about school

good things you want to do in your life

Rules

You must do all the activities in your ISO

not break the law

do what your YJ officer says

let your YJ officer visit you

You must tell your YJ officer within 2 days if you move house

change schools or work

You must tell and give lots of time to the YJ officer if you want to leave Queensland. Your YJ officer needs to say 'yes'.

Court can give you extra things for you to do on your order. Extra things like,

help to get off drugs and alcohol

mental health help

What if I break the rules?

Your YJ officer will tell you what happens if you break the rules.

If you break a rule, your YJ officer will give you a warning in a letter.

If you keep breaking the rules, you will go back to court.

The court will decide if you will stay on a probation order.

The court may give you a different order.

You must stay out of trouble when you are on probation.

If you do another offence, the court may decide you have breached your order.

This means, the court gave you rules but you did not follow the rules.

The court may give you more punishment.