

Overview

Who do I talk to in YJ?

Ask for the Intake Officer.

Where _____

Phone (07) _____

Email _____

www.cyjma.qld.gov.au

The material presented in this publication is distributed by the Queensland Government for information only and is subject to change without notice. The Queensland Government disclaims all responsibility and liability (including liability in negligence) for all expenses, losses, damages and costs incurred as a result of the information being inaccurate or incomplete in any way and for any reason. ©State of Queensland (Department of Children, Youth Justice and Multicultural Affairs) 2021

Pre-Sentence Reports

What is a pre-sentence report?

A pre-sentence report

- is a report that tells the court more about you.
- helps the court make a better decision about you.
- is done after you said you were guilty or the court said you were guilty.
- Is written by a Youth Justice officer (or YJ officer)

The judge will want this report if they are thinking about giving you one of these:

- an Intensive Supervision Order
- a Conditional Release Order
- a Detention Order

What do I need to do?

A YJ officer will see you a few times to get information.

Your parents or carers may come.

You can meet the YJ officer at the office.

The YJ officer will talk to you about

- you and your family

- school

- why you did the offence

- what happened after the offence

- how you feel about the victim

- programs that can help you stop offending.

Must I answer the questions?

You can say as much as you want or as little as you want.

The YJ officer may put your answers in the report.

The YJ officer may also talk to other people after talking to you. This will also help them understand what happened.

Who gets the report?

The YJ officer will talk to you and your family or carer about the report.

You may not get a copy if there is private information in it. Like, if it talks about another person.

The court may say you cannot get a copy.

Talk to your lawyer about the report.